Professional Experience:

Florman Architects Inc., San Diego,CA Architect

1989 - present

Co-Founder and principal architect of Florman Architects Inc., a full service architecture and design firm. Over 25 years of extensive experience in all phases of design and construction ranging from residential remodels and new homes to a $55 million remodel of the Hyatt Mission Bay. Projects include industrial, single family residential, hospitality, retail and commercial interiors (and often involved work with local jurisdictions, planning groups and the coastal commission). Projects have been published over 20 times in local and national magazines. Most recent project includes consulting to the Adams Avenue Business Association to assist with planning and street improvements to the business district. Please see www.flormanaarchitects.com and attached architecture Bio. (The corporation launched in 1987 as 2 Corporation Architects Builders).

Steven Florman Artist, Wood and Metal Studio, San Diego Artist, Wood Worker and Welder

1999 - present

Emphasis on wood and metal sculptures, pencil drawings and custom furniture offered for sale at galleries or as commissioned works for architecture clients. Work is represented in galleries across California and Arizona. Have completed commissions for large corporations including Neiman Marcus, Kaiser Permanente and Hyatt Corporation.

Steven Florman General Contractor, San Diego,CA General Contractor

1988 - 2002

Owner and principal project manager and superintendent of a design-build firm emphasizing single-family residential projects ranging from small room additions to a $1.5 million remodel and additions to a historic home. Operated a 13-employee concrete, framing, cabinet shop and drafting crew (coordinating all material suppliers, rentals and subcontractors). Broad experience in budgeting, construction management and the hands-on work related to many construction trades.

City of San Diego Economic Development Department Store Front Design Architect

2008 - 2012

Assisted multiple small businesses in central San Diego with the design and improvement of storefronts. Emphasized creating an impactful, practical and creative street-front presence for a wide variety of retail and commercial customers.

Steven Florman

San Diego Design Institute

1998 – 2002

Design and Art Instructor

Instructed studio courses, including Three Dimensional Design, Residential Design with an emphasis on the choreography of space, and Furniture Design. Also designed courses on collaborative art.

Congregation Dor Hadash, San Diego, CA

2009 – 2012

President

The congregation had been losing money and members for three years when nominated by the Board of Trustees as President. After assessing and reconfiguring the budget, programming, committees, staff and physical space, led the synagogue's transformation into a growing, financially stable organization with an annual budget surplus, a newly hired (and widely respected within our community) rabbi, a broader array of community programs, and newly remodeled educational and religious spaces.

Childrens Museum, Museum de Los Ninos

1997 - 2000

Designer and Builder of Exhibits [in collaboration with other designers]

•Who Can I Run To? Design and creation of furniture, lighting and cabinetry for a traveling exhibit which dealt with the causes, consequences and solutions of domestic violence.

•Are We There Yet? A Mercedes Benz was cut in half, expanded and reconfigured (using salvaged doors and seats from junked cars and city buses) into a curved 64-foot long car.

•Toddlers Pop Palace. Pop culture explored with assembly of thousands of phone books, baby bottle nipples, disposable diapers and yellow ducks to build a toddler "palace."
